

S.a.p.e.: Society of Atmosphere setters and Elegant People

The S.A.P.E. is a fashion and cultural phenomenon inspired by the dandies that appeared in Congo during its colonisation by the French. Congolese maintain today this myth of Parisian sophistication by wearing their finery and scrolling elegantly dressed in the streets of Brazzaville. Respected by their community, they gather around shared values and tastes, working to improve their style, their gestures in order achieve originality and distinction. In doing so, they pursue a dream: to travel to Paris and return to Brazzaville as ambassadors of elegance.
